Missing Bomb Parts Found In Spanish Waters

PALOMARES, Spain (UPI) — U.S. and Spanish officials today waited near here for the arrival of a bathysphere to assist in operation to raise two objects believed to be parts of a missing nuclear bomb.

Reliable sources said two mysterious objects were detected by sonar detection devices on U.S. warships about 200 fathoms off the coast here.

The objects were believed to be parts of the nuclear bomb that was lost in the crash of an American B52 bomber and KC135 jet tanker that collided near here Jan. 17.

Unconfirmed press reports said the objects have emitted radiation, and officials were almost certain they are parts of the missing bomb.

The crash of the Strategic Air Command bomber and the KC135 resulted in the U.S. government ordering temporary suspension of all American nuclear bomber flights over Spain.

The nuclear flight ban was put into effect the same day the two planes crashed and was made on the initiative of the U.S. government and not at Spain's request.

Little Boy Blue Is Buried

ADRIAN (UPI) — Little Boy Blue, the child whose bruised little body laid unidentified for more than a week earlier this month, was gently buried Wednesday in the children's plot of a cemetery here.

Meanwhile, a Lucas County (Ohio) grand jury of 15 was to hear evidence today against Alberto Sanchez, 22, who fled to Mexico after allegedly killing 2-year-old Eddie Montalvo and hiding his body, clad in a blue ski parka, on an abandoned farm.

The funeral was attended by Carolina Montalvo, 20, the child's mother who had lived with Sanchez in Toledo, Ohio, and by Mrs. Martha Montalvo, of Adrian, who had reared her grandson from his birth.

Father Roger Stanley, the priest who had baptized the child when he was five days old, came to stand in the snow and read the simple prayers.

Father Stanley said the grandmother, who wept constantly during the funeral, had turned the child over to her daughter and Sanchez only last summer after a family fight.

Sanchez was being hunted in Mexico on a second degree murder warrant. He was accused of beating the boy to death in November at his Toledo home.

Radio Speaker Is Knocked Out

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Two men attacked the moderator of a radio telephone talk program late Wednesday night, knocking him unconscious with a microphone while he was on the air. Thousands of listeners heard the scuffle over their home radios.

The victim, who interviewed a folk singer with leftist political views last week, blamed the assault on persons who thought he was "an extreme left-winger or Communist."

Robert Goldman, the program moderator and also an English instructor at Trenton State College, said he was talking to a listener by telephone when two men walked into the studio of radio station WTTM and began the unprovoked attack. He was alone when they entered.

The attackers escaped before police arrived at the studio. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Mercer County Hospital where he underwent X-rays.

Romney's Budget Is $944.9 Million

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney today asked for a record high $944.9 million general fund budget to finance state government in the 1966-67 fiscal year starting July 1.

In his annual budget message to the Legislature, Romney recommended a $124.5 million spending increase to keep pace with the expanding population and provide needed new services and buildings.

It was the largest single spending boost ever recommended by Romney and raised the possibility that the state, after new programs are enacted by the Legislature, may spend nearly $1 billion in the next fiscal year.

Romney issued his budget request after he reviewed and pared down money requests totaling $1.26 billion from all 19 departments of state government.

The final budget figure was based on an increase of $96 million over the $820.4 million budget for the current fiscal year to maintain present programs plus $28 million for new or expanded services.

The general fund budget finances the whole spectrum of state government, from education through public health, mental health public welfare and conservation and includes capital outlay.

To finance the record high budget the state will dig deep into the cash surplus, expected to be about $125 million by July 1. If Romney and lawmakers keep their promises of no new taxes this year, it will cost an estimated $75 million of the surplus.

As a procedural move, the Democratic-controlled Legislature will kill the Romney budget proposal and reissue an almost identical budget under their party label. This is a move to bypass the constitutional prohibition against working on spending bills before a budget is acted on.

Romney earmarked more than half of his general fund budget, $498.6 million, for education. Of that total $257 million was allocated to higher education, $221.5 million for school aid grants and $20.1 million for other education.

The state's mental health program was second in line, being recommended for $124.2 million, followed by $115.3 million for social services and $59.9 million for grants and debt service.

Other Romney recommendations included $41.3 million for general government, $19.2 million for public health, $23.5 million for state police and the state military and $22.4 million for conservation and agriculture. The remainder, $40.5 million, was earmarked for various other state services.

HELP FOR COLLEGES

Nation Faces Challenge Of Business Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson served notice on business and labor today that he might have to request high taxes to curb inflation unless they keep the lid on prices and wages.

He told Congress in his annual economic message that keeping the economy from overheating in the face of the Viet Nam buildup and the business boom is the "most serious economic challenge" facing the nation.

Johnson predicted that unemployment will fall below 4 percent this year, the lowest since 1953, while the value of the nation's output of goods and services will soar to a record $722 billion.

The unprecedented five-year economic boom has brought Americans prosperity "far beyond the dreams of any people, anywhere, any time," the President said. But he cautioned that the ominous threat of a spreading conflict in Viet Nam makes economic restraint vital.

"Abundance For All"

He sounded the same general note at a ceremony Wednesday when he signed two copies of the economic report, saying America has come closer than any nation in history "to man's ancient goal of abundance for all," and that only wise and responsible action can achieve this "in our lifetime."

It was the specter of inflation that prompted the President to abandon the administration's "sliding scale" method of setting guideposts for wage and price increases, a move that brought stiff criticism from organized labor, which played big part in his 1964 election victory.

In his message the President urged Congress for the third time in recent weeks to approve his plan for curbing private spending by speeding up individual payroll withholding and corporation tax collections and restoring excise tax cuts on new cars and telephone service. Then he added:

UNIONS AROUSED
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisors today defended the freezing of its anti-inflationary wage guidepost at 3.2 percent despite cries of "unfair" from organized labor.

The council's scrapping of its old formula for computing the guidepost, which would have raised the non-inflationary limit to 3.6 percent, was sure to draw fire from AFL-CIO President George Meany.

But it backed up the President's strongest plea for restraint: by union and business leaders in making decisions on pay demands and price increases that might contribute to inflation.

Council Chairman Gardner Ackley told newsmen that its old 3.2 percent guidepost more truly reflected gains in productivity over the long run.

Using the old formula of averaging such gains over the past five years would have produced the 3.6 percent ceiling. Ackley said that would not be an accurate yardstick.

The council also took note of inflationary fears for 1966 when it declared in the economic report to congress:

"With the economy approaching full employment and the crucial test of our ability to reconcile our employment and our cost-price goals at hand, it would be inappropriate to raise the guidepost."

The guideposts call for limiting wage-benefit increases for workers to the annual increase in productivity, output per man-hour, over the long run. They also declare price reductions should be made in industries where productivity is increasing faster than the national rate.

Eleven Bills Filed For Crime-Busting

LANSING (UPI) — A "legislative war on crime" was launched by state Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit, Wednesday with the introduction of bills to allow broad new police powers.

In introducing 11 crime-busting bills, Dzendzel said he was reacting to "alarming increases" in crime, especially in Detroit where the FBI says law violations are rising faster than in any other city.

Heading the list of controversial bills is a so-called "stop and frisk" proposal, which gives a policeman power to search anyone when the officer "reasonably suspects" danger to life or limb.

The bill would also allow a policeman to question any persons in a public place whom he "reasonably suspects is committing, has committed or is about to commit a felony."

Minimum Age

In addition Dzendzel proposed the minimum age for required school attendance be raised from 16 to 17 years, in hopes of keeping immature and potential dangerous youngsters under control.

Another bill, described by Dzendzel as "riot control," would make it illegal for any gathering of three or more persons to disobey a police officer's order to disband. Another proposal makes it a felony to assault a known police officer and still another provides stiff penalties for attempting to flee from police.

Dzendzel said "bold" anti-crime action is required, partly because of "an unusual amount of public disrespect toward law enforcement" and partly "as a result of court rulings" though which "the criminal is enjoying more freedom."

Another bill, inspired by the knifing of nine Detroit high school students in a fight after a state basketball tournament game last year, would make it a felony to sell or possess a switchblade knife or a knife with a blade over three inches long. It also would ban sale or possession of ice picks and straight razors "unless used in good faith as a tool of honest work, trade, business, sport or recreation."

Other Bills
Other Dzendzel bills would: —Permit newsmen to attend probate court trials of juveniles and publish the names of juvenile offenders with permission of the judge.

—Prohibit private security guards and private police from use or possession of firearms except when going to or from work and on duty.

—Allow county medical examiners to conduct inquests as coroners have been allowed to do.

—Amend the vehicle code to require a mandatory suspension of a driver's license for up to 90 days after the first conviction of reckless or drunken driving, and require suspension of a license on the third conviction for either offense.

—And reimburse counties for prosecution costs relative to crimes committed by persons confined to state penal, correction, juvenile or hospital institutions within that county.

Right Hunch?
RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI) — When the gunman told Kenneth McKamey of Payless Cleaners to hand over the contents of the cash register by the count of five, the clerk replied, "go ahead and shoot."

The would-be bandit, apparently stunned, declared: "you're lucky," and fled. McKamey told police he was sure the gun was not loaded.

Four Big Auto Firms Promote Traffic Safety

LANSING (UPI) — The presidents of the big four auto companies are expected to make major new traffic safety suggestions at a dinner tonight called by Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders.

The unusual dinner meeting, featuring talks by the auto presidents, follows a call by Romney for a "war on Michigan's appalling traffic accident problem."

Secretary of State James M. Hare said he hoped the meeting will provide additional guidelines for making Michigan, the auto production capital of the world, a showcase for traffic safety.

"Michigan's highway safety program needs involvement and cooperation by many groups and individuals," Hare said. "It is hoped that this dinner and program will help to bring about needed unity in the safety movement."

Presidents of the four auto companies—Roy Abernathy of American Motors Corp., Arjay Miller of Ford Motor Co., James M. Roche of General Motors, and Lynn A. Townsend of Chrysler Corp.—will speak or separate aspects of dealing with traffic safety problems throughout the United States.

Abernathy, president of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, also will speak for the association on the auto industry's attempts to wrestle with the problem of traffic safety.

Miller will discuss driver education; Townsend, compulsory motor vehicle inspection plans, and Roche on traffic enforcement problems.

Romney, who two days ago made 21 traffic safety proposals in a special message to the state legislature, will also speak.

Other speakers include Carl Buchanan, chairman of the Michigan Highway Users Conference, August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, and Dean Pridgen, vice president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

—In Parliament, where Wilson has an overall majority of two votes, members were debating a Conservative Party motion criticizing Labor for its economic policy. Liberal members said they would side with the Conservatives when a vote was taken late tonight.

—In the port city of Hull, 180 miles north of London, voters were filling a Parliament vacancy today. The Labor Party appeared in grave danger of losing a vital seat it won from the Conservatives in the 1964 general election.

Results of both issues were expected to be in by early Friday.

Scheme Charged In Baker Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., charged Wednesday that the scheduling of the trial of former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker is part of a scheme to prevent "exposure to public view" before the November elections.

Baker, who is charged with nine counts of tax evasion, fraud, grand larceny and conspiracy is scheduled to go on trial Oct. 17. He has pleaded innocent on all counts.

North Koreans Smash Viet Cong Sneak Attack

SAIGON (UPI) — South Korean troops killed at least half of a Viet Cong force they found sneaking up behind U.S. Army 1st Cavalry Division units on a sweep 275 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The ROK forces, outnumbered two-to-one, killed at least 35 Viet Cong with machinegun and small arms fire in a region about 25 miles south of Bong Son, where a multi-battalion element of the 1st Cavalry is sweeping the coastal highlands.

The Americans met little opposition today. Since the sweep, Operation Masher, began Monday the cavalrymen have killed 27 Viet Cong in a series of small contacts. They also uncovered arms and rice caches and numerous tunnels.

The pause in the air war against Communist North Viet Nam was in its 35th day, but U.S. planes on Wednesday and early today flew 450 combat sorties against Viet Cong facilities in the South.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky today strolled conspicuously down Saigon's main street to disprove rumors that he had mysteriously disappeared.

The handsome, mustachioed Ky hailed a reporter outside the UPI bureau on Tu Do Street and said, "today I am a rumor-killer instead of a lady-killer."

Reports earlier had swept the capital that Ky's whereabouts were not known.

Manistee Gets Wave Of Fires, Loss $100,000
MANISTEE (UPI) — The third major fire in the past three weeks broke out here Wednesday, causing an estimated $100,000 loss along the city's main street.

The blaze also threatened to spread from Snyder's Shoe Store, center of the fire, to adjacent buildings on the corner of River and Maple streets.

The City Drug Store and Classon's Jewelry Store, which flank the shoe store, were threatened by the fire Wednesday afternoon. Contents of the two stores were being taken out by employees and volunteers.

The Newberry Department Store was destroyed by a fire Jan. 10 on River street and the adjacent Montgomery Ward Store suffered more than $1.5 million damage. Last Friday the Pine Chop House burned at a loss estimated at $130,000.

Envoy In Lisbon To Be Changed
LISBON (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador to Portugal Adm. George W. Anderson (USN-Ret.) will complete his assignment shortly and is likely to be replaced by W. Tapley Bennett, who now is U.S. envoy to the Dominican Republic, reliable sources said today.

Anderson has been in Lisbon since October, 1963, a few months after he was involved in a controversy with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara over the then-proposed TFX supersonic jet fighter plane.

Sen. Dirksen 'Man Of Year'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Michigan Republicans finished high in the voting for the GOP Man of the Year won by Sen. Dan Rostenkowski, R-Ill.

Members of the Republican Capitol Hill Club easily picked Dirksen as the Republican who did the most for the party in 1965.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan polled 561 votes and Michigan Gov. George Romney garnered 256.

On a weighted scale, Dirksen ran up a total of 1,426 points against 643 for Richard M. Nixon, 543 for New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, and 245 for National Chairman Ray G. Bliss.

Catholic Laity To Participate In U.P. Synod

The Catholic Diocese of Marquette will register a "first" in American Catholicism with a synod this year which will bring laymen into an ecclesiastical council with clergymen for the first time.

A group of 100 Upper Peninsula Catholic church lay members and clergymen gathered at St. Michael's Church hall in Marquette Wednesday and heard Bishop Thomas L. Noa, and Monsignors Arnold Casanova and Edmund Szoka describe the planning to date for the synod.

The last synod was held in the diocese in 1950 and involved only clergymen.

The centralism that has affected federal government in America so strongly is also being felt in church organization and creates need for greater diocesan income than in the past. Church functions like the Newman Centers for students at institutions of higher education, homes for the elderly, the welfare program, the Family Life Bureau and such activities are not parish activities and require support of the diocese, which embraces the more than 300 mile spread of the Upper Peninsula and its 100 Catholic parishes.

Commission Named

The synod would be concerned not only with finances, however, but with translating the ecumenism and inter-faith policies and other decrees of Vatican Council in Rome into parish action and also with other church matters.

Monsignor Szoka explained that Catholic Church canon law provides for diocesan synod every 10 years, but does not provide for participation of the laity, Vatican Council, however, decreed that this should change and include "the priest and his people," so the laity will participate in the planning for the synod.

The only structure now for the synod is the planning and coordinating commission appointed Wednesday by Bishop

Synod Categories

The deaneries of the diocese will propose ideas and subjects to the synod for its consideration and from these the coordinating committee will make up the categories of the synod, with one commission assigned to the study of each category.

Likely categories include: education, the liturgy (public worship), parish administration, finance, ecumenism, communications, vocations, and specific works of the lay apostolate.

Just as the decrees of Vatican Council must have the concurrence of the Pope, the Bishop must concur in decisions of the diocesan synod to give them effect. Each category commission will have 7 members, 4 priests and 3 laymen and the bishop will name the priest-chairman and a second priest, and the other two priests and three laymen will be elected by delegates to the synod, who will be chosen by the deaneries.

Financial Proposal

Msgr. Casanova explained that the diocese's Faith Development Fund created several years ago is designed to bring in $100,000 a year for works which are not parochial—Marygrove Retreat House, Bishop Noa Home for Senior Citizens, Newman Clubs, etc. Services to the elderly take 60 per cent of these special collection funds.

"We have managed to scrape by," said Msgr. Casanova, but there are not sufficient funds for the programs that are coming in. Catholic Social Services, for instance, needs $60,000 a year and only gets $50,000, so we're $10,000 short for next year. And we all know of additional fields that the church could get into to serve spirituality in the diocese."

Lee Edwards, Detroit, of Parish Service Co., suggested the making of a movie to explain needs of the diocese to church members as one means of introducing a proposal that persons pledge one per cent of their weekly income to the diocese. He estimated that if half of U. P. Catholics participated it would bring in $750,000 a year.

Mothers' March Is Scheduled

The 1966 Mothers' March of Dimes will be held in Escanaba Monday, Feb. 7, beginning at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Cousineau and Mrs. Joseph Heirman are chairmen and volunteers are asked to call to assist them in making the drive a successful one in Delta County.

The goal of the Mother's March is to call at every home in the county with a message about the March of Dimes fight against birth defects. Many mothers do not realize the toll taken by birth defects each year in the United States.

Even more tragic is the fact that 250,000 American babies are born each year with serious birth defects that often cause disability and mental retardation. The situation will be further aggravated this year with the birth of more than 15,000 defective infants whose mothers contracted German measles in the 1964 epidemic.

The March of Dimes is financing more than 50 medical centers where improved methods of care and treatment are being developed and supporting an international scientific research program seeking causes and possible means of prevention of birth defects.

Fumes From Car Fatal To Father And Daughter, 14

BAY CITY (UPI) — A Bay City psychiatrist and his daughter died Wednesday of carbon monoxide poisoning. Six other members of the family survived.

Authorities said Lawrence P. Hickner apparently went to the attached garage late Tuesday night to add anti-freeze to the engine.

A son, Mark, 16, awoke late Wednesday morning and complained of feeling ill. He heard the car engine running and went to the garage to turn it off, not noticing his father's body lying in front of the auto. Hickner and a daughter, Mary, 14, whose bedroom was directly above the garage, were found dead later.

Mrs. Eva Hickner and five other children were overcome and treated at Mercy Hospital, Bay City. Another son was away at college.

Fire Threatens Big Fuel Tanks At Traverse City

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Fifty firemen from three fire departments fought a stubborn blaze which threatened four 10,000-gallon fuel tanks Wednesday.

Grand Traverse County Sheriff Richard Weiler, who doubles as the county fire chief, said, "It was a close one. The blaze came 18 feet from the closest tank which was loaded with fuel oil. We were really scared."

The fire was at the Mavety Oil Co. on the outskirts of the city. Damage, which included a destroyed warehouse garage, was estimated at more than $40,000.

Weiler said the closest hydrant was a half mile away and water had to be hauled to the scene.

Needles Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Wednesday ordered the recall of half a million disposable hypodermic needles because some of them were contaminated.

FDA Commissioner James L. Goddard, said the agency has confirmed earlier reports by the New York City and New Jersey health departments, which found 13 of 49 samples to be non-sterile.

The program compares to $63.5 million appropriated for the same purpose during the current year.

"This proposal will carry forward more than 30 major projects already underway, will start the construction of an additional 30 and will provide planning authorization for another 40," Romney said.

He said the full utilization of federal funds will help continue Michigan on a "pay-as-you-go" plan, rather than forcing the state to issue bonds to finance the projects.

Construction This Year

Romney said, "the following major building projects will be under construction during the 1966-67 fiscal year, and some 40 others will be authorized for studies and planning."

Education Gets Biggest Slice Of State Funds

LANSING (UPI)—The biggest chunk of Gov. George Romney's proposed record $944.9 million general fund budget is pegged for aid to education, particularly to meet the needs of burgeoning enrollments at the state's 11 colleges and universities.

"Over 17,600 additional students are expected to be at the doors of our state-supported degree granting colleges and universities next fall," Romney said. An overall increase of $37.5 million was proposed for the colleges.

The governor recommended spending $189 million for operating the schools next year, an increase of $24.3 million from last year.

The big three universities, Michigan State, Michigan and Wayne State, would receive a total of $141 million for operating expenses and $26 million for capital outlay projects.

"This recommendation continues my emphasis on meeting the instructional needs of the presently enrolled students and extensions of these opportunities to the additional thousands," the governor said.

Romney said the state's colleges and universities "continue to require the largest portion of the capital outlay dollars."

New Bill Puts Ban On Shooting Antlerless Deer

LANSING (UPI) — The Senate Conservation Committee Tuesday agreed on an omnibus deer bill which would place a moratorium on the shooting of antlerless deer and raise the fee for licenses.

Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, chairman of the committee, said the bill had the support of five of the six committee members. Only Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, disagreed with the moratorium, O'Brien said.

Besides establishing a two-year moratorium on the shooting of antlerless deer, the bill would add $2.50 to the present $5 license fee, change the starting date of the season to Nov. 15 and provide for 50,000 special doe camp permits at $10 each.

Answer Complaints
The $2.50 increase would provide an estimated $1.5 million in license fee revenue, with the special doe permits producing another $500,000. O'Brien said money raised from the proposed fee increases would be earmarked for use by the Conservation Department to improve feeding and range control of the deer herd.

The bill sought to answer thousands of hunter complaints of a poor deer season last year when an estimated 108,000 deer were taken, a drop of about 32,000 from the 1964 season.

Hunters complained that shooting does and fawns was the cause of the decline in the deer kill. About 45,000 antlerless deer were killed last year, according to the Conservation Department.

The season starting date was changed last year to provide separate weekend starts in both peninsulas to give more hunters a chance to be in the woods at a prime time. O'Brien said the special doe camp kill would be regulated according to area by the Conservation Department and would replace the buck camp kill now in existence. Such a system, O'Brien said, would allow for harvesting of does and fawns abundant in certain areas. It also would be a misdemeanor to transport antlerless deer under the proposed bill.

Opposes Increase

Sen. Joe Mack, D-Ironwood, who has been highly critical of the conservation department's antlerless deer policy, vigorously opposed the license fee increase.

Mack charged the committee "was trying to cloud the antlerless deer issue with raising the license fee." He called it blackmail.

"The prime purpose is to place a moratorium on the shooting of antlerless deer and not raising more money for the bureaucratic conservation department," he declared.

Another bill introduced by Mack calls for a one-year moratorium instead of two in the Upper Peninsula. He said he would welcome any amendments to include the Lower Peninsula in the moratorium.

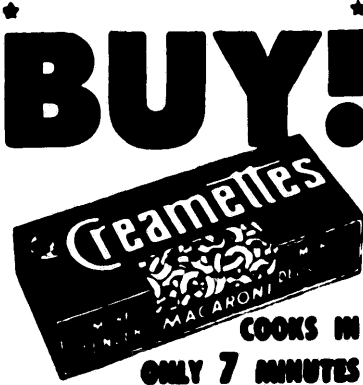

Mack proposed taking the antlerless deer issue before the Legislature as a separate matter. He said that if a raise in the license fee was desired it should be for out of state hunters, possibly "double or triple" the present fee.

Houghton Seeks Status As City

HOUGHTON—The Village of Houghton, caught in the growing pains of Michigan Tech University and its own population, is beginning to look toward official city status as the answer to its governmental problems.

The village board has appointed an eight-member committee to investigate boundary possibilities for a city and is exploring procedures for drafting and adopting a city charter.

"We cannot continue to exist in a growing condition by means of statute provisions adopted in 1895," said G. Curtis Eggleston, village president.

Political Deductions

President Johnson's great Pandora's box of government goodies in his State of the Union message included a request for reform in political campaign fund raising.

This is needed. It has been needed for a long time. Persons who think that babies are found under cabbages and that politicians are found by the voters and elevated to fame by the voters' sole efforts may not be interested, but there's a serious political trend in this country. It suggests that only rich men can aspire to high government office because the person of large talent but little financial means can't get over our present financial hurdles on the way to office.

The late President Kennedy, who had family millions at his disposal to help him, cited this problem of American democracy and proposed a solution. It got nowhere. The Johnson plan will probably gather quite a bit of dust, too, but it recognizes a need. It also, suggest political commentators, indicates a concern about the ability of his heir-apparent, Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who lacks bundled money, to meet this challenge in competition with the rich Kennedy Brothers.

President Johnson hinted in his message that his proposed legislation would probably go beyond the earlier recommendations of President Kennedy. Both have suggested an income tax deduction for small political contributions, like the deductions now permitted for gifts to charity. Mr. Johnson would also like to bring local and state political fund raising under the federal reporting requirements which now apply only to groups raising money nationally.

Theoretically such tax deductions on political contributions would encourage millions of small givers to support their political parties financially. The parties, in turn, would help finance the campaigns of able candidates lacking money. The plan is full of bugs, but the problem persists and there should be efforts to reduce it and not make politics the province of the rich. This would be a serious flaw of our democracy, leading to an oligarchy of wealth in government as well as economics.

No one in Washington has his political antenna up higher than Lyndon Johnson and he has picked up the sparks which indicate that Bobby Kennedy may be contesting with Hubert Humphrey for the Democratic nomination for President in 1972.

Bobby and Edward Kennedy are members of the Democratic majority in the Johnson Administration, but they are free agents in it, immensely prestigious as the political heirs of their late brother, President John F. Kennedy, and they are expected to be increasing vocal in their dissent from administration policies in the Senate as they build a political position of their own.

Vice President Humphrey can indulge no such freedom and individuality and must necessarily look somewhat lackluster in comparison. He must be Little Sir Echo for Lyndon Johnson while he is vice president and when his service there is ended and he tries for the presidency he'll face the money problem that is a scandal of our politics.

Lack of means hurt him in his 1960 campaign against the late President Kennedy in state primaries and it would be a handicap in '72. Some of this may have been in President Johnson's mind as he said "As the process of elections becomes more complex and costly, we must make it possible for those without personal wealth to enter public life without being obligated to a few large contributors."

The Republicans show an increasing part of their campaign money coming from small or medium-sized contributors, but the big money contributors pay more and more of the national campaign bills each election. And then they go to Washington for the favors that are their rewards.

DISSENT

Michigan Conservation Commission:

The Manistique Rifle & Pistol Club, on Dec. 15, voted with but one dissenting vote to condemn the present policies of the Michigan Conservation Commission pertaining to the deer regulations for Upper Michigan.

While many of us do believe there is merit in a controlled shooting of does and fawns, we are totally shocked by the complete disregard of the voice of one John Q. Public. We who have many, many years of observation and experience, find it next to impossible to believe statistics published by perhaps the largest propaganda outlet in the nation.

Article after article in direct conflict with each other have been our daily menu for the past several years. What started out to be a control of critical areas has slowly expanded to include the entire Upper Peninsula. Each year the total permits seem to rise. And after each disappointing season we are told that the deer were there, but weather or road conditions cut the size of the kill.

We the citizens whose license fees and taxes support this untrusting department of our state government demand that our voice have a bearing on future regulations pertaining to the deer problems in Upper Michigan.

We are not ignorant, uneducated, backward savages. We are men who would support a sane, sensible program not influenced by money, politics, or special interest groups.

Manistique Rifle & Pistol Club
Milt Lowery,
President

Editor's note: Dissent from state deer policy has been heard for years and never silenced, but rather amplified. State deer kill policy still is below what the Conservation Department biologists recommend. Their aim is to provide the largest deer herd that can be maintained by winter feed and they say that there cannot be a continued larger deer herd than this situation will maintain. The dissent, they say, should be on providing better range (feed), not on reducing the kill below the herd-feed balance.)

"Shall We Open Up or Run for Cover?"

In Marquette County Area

Spruce Hens Predominate

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of The Russell Newspapers

Many people have spent years hunting in the Upper Peninsula without ever having seen a spruce grouse, but on a portion of the Yellow Dog Plains in northern Marquette County spruce grouse are more abundant than ruffed grouse.

This was one of the findings of Dr. William L. Robinson, Marquette, assistant professor of biology at Northern Michigan University, who last year began what he hopes will be the first thorough study ever made of the spruce grouse.

"Prior to 1912 the spruce grouse was common or abundant in northern Michigan," Robinson said. "Now it is an uncommon species occurring as scattered populations only in the Upper Peninsula and a few counties in the northern Lower Peninsula. Since 1950, however, populations of spruce grouse have increased slightly."

Yellow Dog Grouse
Robinson and his assistant, Calvin Waisanen of Houghton, a senior at NMU, recorded 111 sightings of spruce grouse in the Yellow Dog Plains study area last spring and summer, compared with only nine sightings of ruffed grouse.

Eighty-nine spruce grouse were banded, 53 of them adults, the remainder immature birds. Twenty-three broods were counted.

The birds were banded by use of a mist net. The net of fine webbing was seven feet high and 35 feet long. When Robinson and Waisanen spotted a spruce grouse on the ground, they strung the net and then herded the bird into the netting, where it became entangled. The distinctive combinations of colored bands permitted individual identification when birds were sighted again.

Couldn't Find Nest
Although a bird dog was used on several days during the nesting season, the researchers were unable to locate a single nest. "Apparently the tendency of the birds to sit tightly on the nest and allow searchers to walk by was responsible for this," Robinson said.

Here are some of the findings of Robinson's first year of study:

1. Spruce grouse in the Yellow Dog Plains seem to prefer mixed jack pine and spruce stands consisting of several age groups, although some birds were also seen in pure stands of jack pine and pure stands of spruce.

2. The earliest nest was hatched about June 20 and the latest on July 7. The main hatching date was June 27. This date is about three weeks later than the usual peak of hatching for ruffed grouse in Michigan.

Brood Counts
3. Twenty-two of the 23 spruce grouse broods recorded had one to six young. The other brood was an unusual one containing 14 young (possibly two broods combined with a single female). The average of 23 broods was 3.1 young. According to other accounts, the average number of eggs laid by spruce grouse is five to nine. If this average applied on the Yellow Dog Plains, significant mortality occurred sometime between the time the eggs were laid and when the broods were first seen. Most broods were one to five weeks old when first seen. Eleven broods were identified (by the banded female) a second time one to 30 days after the first sighting. Of these 11 broods, containing 35 young, only three had suffered further losses, a total of four chicks, indicating that last summer little mortality occurred after the birds were a few weeks old.

4. Close to one-third of the adult females sighted did not have broods.

Grant Is Sought

Robinson believes that the study marked a "successful beginning toward understanding the habitat requirements and productivity of the spruce grouse in northern Michigan," but he said many questions remain to be answered.

In order to find the answers, Robinson has applied to the National Science Foundation for a research grant to continue the study. Last year's study was supported by Northern Michigan University in the hope that, once progress had been demonstrated, other sources of financial support might be encouraged to contribute toward continuation and expansion of the study.

Robinson, who is 32, received his Bachelor of Science degree (with honors) in wildlife management from Michigan State University in 1954, his Master of Science degree in wildlife management from the University of Maine in 1959 and his Doctor of Philosophy degree in zoology from the University of Toronto in 1963.

Bombings Studied

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — We may have been bombing the wrong targets in North Vietnam.

Studies how that Ho Chi Minh, with Red Chinese help, has been able to put major rail lines and truck routes back into use with considerable speed. The three rail lines from Red China to the Hanoi-Haiphong area are back in full operation. Bridges have been jerrybuilt. Sizable stocks are moving in.

The Ho Chi Minh trails through Laos are taking increased traffic. Camouflaged roads now bypass points where bridges have been destroyed or where bombing has caused landslides or cave-ins on mountain roads.

Major rail and truck lines from Hanoi and Haiphong south are in operation. There is considerable movement.

Increasing numbers of SAM ground-to-air missile sites are being constructed in the region around Hanoi and Haiphong. More Red airplanes are being brought into North Vietnam. There is a sharp step-up in their training missions. Some of Ho's pilots show signs of considerable ability.

A considerable amount of new conventional anti-aircraft equipment is moving into the north and, during the fall, has been placed in sizable numbers around likely targets.

The pattern of U. S. northern bombing has been so standardized that Ho has known where to place these weapons effectively.

The U. S. concentration on bridges (attacked from a limited number of directions in fairly well-established patterns) means Ho's troops are ready and set.

The losses resulting from over-standardized operations, and the pace at which Ho has repaired damage, should cause some rethinking.

The new answer will not be saturation bombing. The lessons from former wars confirm that massive bombing has frequently been less effective than highly selective targeting.

Korea and World War II suggest the most effective northern bombing would not be to bomb all railroad lines, all bridges, all power plants, all port facilities, all airfields, all factories and all military barracks.

In World War II ball bearings were a crucial Hitler bottleneck. Cutting his supply hit Axis war effectiveness.

In North Vietnam destroying three short sections of railroad line could have a heavy impact on Ho's supply of arms. There are several weak points in these lines that, once bombed, would be more difficult to repair than bridges. Four key power plants supply not only vital industrial complexes, but also four petroleum storage facilities are crucial. A detailed study of economic, political and military bottlenecks in North Vietnam would uncover other small but strategically important targets.

Banana Label Prank Clicks

DETROIT (UPI)—Two girls who shipped on their own banana prank won a $2,000 scholarship grant for their school and a $500 gift for charity.

John M. Fox, president of United Fruit Co., presented the scholarship check to the headmistress of the girls' school, Cranbrook, a private institution. The scholarship student will come from a Latin American banana republic.

Fox also gave a $500 check to the local Christmas Seal agency. The gifts climaxed a zany prank which almost worked too well for its originators, Cranbrook High School seniors Mary Jane Hilder and Christini Darwell.

With a straight face, Mary Jane and Christini started collecting "Chiquita Banana" labels last fall, telling their classmates they could get a sports car from United Fruit if they got enough labels. They would then sell the car, they said, and give the money to Cranbrook's scholarship fund.

Too many people believed them. Banana stickers came from their fellow students, then from neighbors, then from friends and relatives throughout the nation who were enlisted in the phony cause.

Mary Jane and Christini were stuck. They wrote United Fruit, pleading for help.

The big banana company, intrigued by the story and the publicity it offered, agreed to peel the girls out of trouble and pick up the tab. Fox said he would donate the scholarship money if the girls collected 5,550 labels by May 8, and would give to the Christmas Seal drive a nickel a label for the next 10,000.

Mary Jane and Christini turned in 16,858 of the little yellow stickers. More are flooding in, they said.

According to the sagas, Leif Ericson's youngest brother was killed by Indians and buried in America.

The Doctor Says: Ann Landers Boys Complain Of Lousy Deal

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—Is there any treatment for scleroderma?

A—In scleroderma, or hide-bound disease, the skin becomes thick and tight. The cause is unknown. The disease starts in a small area and gradually spreads. It may also involve the joints. The underlying mechanism is a replacement of normal elastic connective tissue with the type of nonelastic fibers found in scar tissue.

In the past treatment with cortisone, hormones and other drugs has been tried but without much success. More recently three new drugs have been found that will improve many of these victims. Potassium para-aminobenzoate (KPAR) taken by mouth softens the hard fibers. This drug has also helped persons with Dupuytren's contracture and other fibrotic diseases. Disodium EDTA injected into the vein has proved beneficial in some patients.

The third drug, estriol aminocaproic acid (EACA) has three modes of action. Although it is not a steroid hormone, it reduces inflammation and, although it is not an antihistamine, it combats allergic reactions. It also acts as a diuretic or "water pill." The side effects of these three drugs were mild and were usually controlled by reducing the dose or discontinuing the drug for two or three days. All were most effective when given early in the course of the disease before irreversible changes had taken place.

Q—Is it harmful to refreeze meat that has been allowed to thaw? If so what ailments would be caused?

A—Thawing and refreezing any protein food leads to chemical (nonbacterial) decomposition of the protein. Although there is no present evidence that, in the absence of germs that cause food poisoning, this would cause any sickness the foods would develop an unpalatable taste. Once thawed, meats should be kept in the refrigerator until ready to be cooked. Leftovers can be refrigerated again but should not be refrozen.

BUG BATTLE

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—A big obstacle in the never-ending fight against insects is the difficulty in developing pesticides that are both effective and reasonably safe to handle.

Dr. Wyman Dorrough, entomologist at Texas A & M University, said researchers are looking for answers to this problem through metabolism studies using radiotopes as tracers.

Dear Ann Landers: After reading the letter from the ex-convict who couldn't get a job because of his past I decided that he and I have a lot in common. I am no ex-con, but I can't get a job because I'm I-A in the draft.

I have tried to find work for several months, but everywhere I go I get the same thing, "Sorry, it costs a lot to train a man. You'd be called into the service just about the time we could make use of you. We can't take a chance."

I can take a chance in Vietnam, but business can't take a chance on me.

My parents spent a lot of money to put me through college and they are far from rich. Now I want to pay them back, but I can't even support myself because business "can't take a chance."

The boys in my group are getting a lousy deal. What can we do about it? — UNEMPLOYABLE

Dear Unemployable: I agree it's a rough go and darned unfair. But who ever said life was fair? If I were you I'd sign up and get my service over with.

Dear Ann Landers: I am teased off at the person who wrote to you and said, "Please don't suggest volunteer work for high-strung, disturbed females. Crazy, mixed up dames need therapy, not volunteer work. They are a pain in the neck to the woman who must train them. Please send those disturbed females to psychiatrists, not to us."

If the volunteer workers are putting in the time because they need to keep busy or because they need to feel that they are helping someone who is worse off than they are, what's wrong with that? In our city there are dozens of society women who do volunteer work because they want to get their pictures in the paper. Print this if you have the courage—"DISTURBED VOLUNTEER"

Dear D. V.: I especially appreciated your letter because I was one of those "crazy, mixed up dames" who accumulated more than 5,000 hours of Red Cross Gray Lady service before I became Ann Landers.

The next letter is from Mrs. R. J. L., director of volunteers at one of Chicago's largest hospitals:

Hatso They'll Do It Every Time

Cut Your Own Taxes:

Claim Legitimate Expense

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

In many occupations employees use their personal funds in the regular conduct of their business. This is particularly true of salesmen.

Their annual income tax return gives them the opportunity to recover these funds if they have not been reimbursed through a company expense account.

The tax form provides two sections where such expenses may be claimed. The first opportunity is on Page 2 of Form 1040 in the section headed "Adjustments."

For most employees the amounts to be claimed here are limited to transportation expense (use of personal automobile, taxi hire, fares on public transportation), travel expense (bus, plane, railroad, steamship fare) and meals and lodging while away from home at least overnight.

All other work-connected expense, such as dues paid to a professional society or labor organization, nonreimbursed entertainment expense, gifts to customers, cost of subscriptions to professional or technical publications required in the performance of your work, are claimed in the itemized deductions section of your return.

So-called "outside salesmen" are the exception to this general rule. They may deduct ALL their ordinary and necessary business expenses in the "Adjustments" section. This gives them a distinct advantage.

Who are outside salesmen?

Internal Revenue regulations define them as spending full time in the solicitation of business away from their employer's place of business. An outside salesman may make periodic visits to his employer's office for consultation, turn in orders or make reports. But if he is required to sell at his employer's place of business as a regular part of his employment he does not qualify.

To understand the distinction, consider the expenses of two men each earning $10,000 annually. Only one of them qualifies as an outside salesman. Their identical expenses consist of:

Work-connected automobile mileage—18,000 miles.

Meals and lodging while away from home overnight—$825.

Entertainment expense—$150.

Secretarial help—$50.

Professional dues—$65.

Technical and professional publications—$25.

The outside salesman will deduct $2,825 as his employee business expense and charge off the amount directly against his gross income on Page 1 of his Form 1040.

In arriving at the car expense we used the Treasury-approved allowance of 10 cents for the first 15,000 miles and seven cents per mile thereafter.

How does the other salesman fare?

His employee business expense deduction will be limited to:

Car expense $1,710

Meals and lodging 825

$2,535

He will recover the missing $290 in business expense only if he itemizes his regular deductions on his return.

When such employee business expenses are claimed, use either Form 2106 (provided by Internal Revenue) or your own statement to explain the deductions. Strict record-keeping and receipted bills are required by IRS in the event of an audit of your return.

The conference is being sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension Service with the cooperation of the Michigan State Tax Commission, Institute of Public Administration of the University of Michigan, Michigan State Association of Supervisors, Upper Peninsula Association of County Tax Directors and Appraisers, Michigan Assessors Association and Michigan Tech.

School Vote Q & A

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Daily Press is running a question and answer column on the school election set Feb. 1. Answers will be prepared by members of the Board of Education or the school administration. Questions, in writing, may be sent to the Daily Press or Luther M. Barrett, Supt. of schools.

Q—When are the buildings to be built? What is the time schedule? (Education Committee, UAW Local 632)

A—No priority has been placed on these buildings. All the projects are needed now. Therefore, it is hoped that all projects could be built pretty much at the same time. Of course, the method of taking contractors' bids will have some bearing on this. But the intent is to construct all units as rapidly as possible so early use can be made of the new facilities. It is expected most of the new rooms would be completed sometime during the next school year.

Draft Sit-In Issue Rejected

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The chief defense of 29 youths arrested for a Viet Nam protest sit-in at the local Selective Service office was ruled out Wednesday.

Circuit Court Judge James R. Breakey Jr. said the youths' contention that they were doing their duty as citizens to protest the United States' "illegal and immoral involvement in Viet Nam" had nothing to do with the case.

Breakey said the only issue the court would consider was whether the defendants were guilty of breaking the Michigan trespassing law, the statute under which they were arrested. The youths include 22 University of Michigan students, two faculty members, three former students and two others. They were arrested last Oct. 15 after they refused to leave the Selective Service office here and were carried out by police.

Ten of the students have lost their student draft deferments as a result of the demonstration, as have three others who pleaded guilty to the trespass charge and are to be sentenced Feb. 3.

The trial recessed today so Breakey could keep a previous commitment. It was to resume Friday.

Walter Krasney, deputy Ann Arbor police chief, testified he told the demonstrators at 6 p.m. they were under arrest for refusing to leave, gave them 30 minutes "grace period," then had officers carry them out.

Col. Robert Lundquist, operations chief at the Michigan Selective Service headquarters in Lansing, said he read selective service regulations to the demonstrators. He said their sit-in kept the office open an hour later than usual.

Defense attorney Ernest Goodman of Detroit contended the demonstrators did not disrupt work at the office.

Diefenbaker Says CBC Has Hate U.S. Theme

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's government-operated television network is brainwashing the public against U.S. policy in Vietnam, says former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

Diefenbaker urged parliament to question Canadian Broadcast Corp. (CBC) officials about programming which portrays the United States as "one of the great enemies of mankind."

The former Conservative prime minister said he was "amazed at the degree to which they assiduously inculcated in the minds of the Canadian people that the U.S. citizens who are dying (in Vietnam) for you and for me — for that is what they are doing — belong to a group which would imperially grasp for power and want war."

He said the CBC has "even brought in Tim Buck (former Canadian Communist party leader) and presented him on television to tell Canadians what is wrong with the United States."

Michigan Honey Harvest Takes Drop For 1965

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan beekeepers harvested 6.9 million pounds of honey in 1965, a drop of 26 per cent from the 1964 total and the lowest production since 1961, the state Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The service said 110,000 bee colonies in Michigan yielded an average of 63 pounds of honey each last year, 22 pounds below the 1964 average. The average price per pound for honey was 16.3 cents, compared with 16.6 cents in 1964.

Peninsula Potpourri

MARQUETTE—Pledges and contributions made to the March of Dimes in the sixth annual telethon over WLUC-TV have gone over the $21,000 mark. Emily Swanson, Marquette representative for the National Foundation, said the final total could go higher. Last year the telethon netted $21,706.

SAULT STE. MARIE—A grant of $117,583 under the Federal Manpower Act has been approved for Sault Branch of Michigan Tech University to establish a training program for licensed practical nurses. The program, which has been under development, will provide 50 weeks of training for 25 unemployed Sault area residents.

ST. IGNACE—Mrs. Mary Davis, oldest resident in Mackinac County, recently celebrated birthday number 102 by attending a party in her honor hosted by women of the Methodist Church "White" Circle. Mrs. Davis was born Jan. 23, 1864 in Cassopolis, Mich., and came to St. Ignace in 1915. Her husband died at the age of 93.

CRYSTAL FALLS—Iron County, along with 20 Michigan counties, has been offered government-owned feed grain at reduced prices by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The program was approved because unfavorable growing and harvesting weather severely affected production of grain, hay and pasture. Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee, Ontonagon and Schoolcraft counties also qualified in the Upper Peninsula.

Birth Rate In State Continues Dip; Deaths Too

The state birth rate appears to be gradually decreasing as the death rate also continues to drop, according to the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Fifty years ago, in 1915, the state birth rate hit a high of 24.1 per thousand of population, but a decline set in until a low of 16.8 was recorded in the 1930's. After a gradual increase, another decline set in, and the number of live births decreased in the last eight years to 21.6 in 1964.

In 1960 deaths represented 13.4 per thousand of population. In 1964 they had dropped to 8.9.

The overall picture is slightly affected by the fact that the state is losing population through migration to other areas. Michigan has been losing people to other states since 1957.

A general "aging" of Michigan's population has taken place since 1890. At that time the "most middle aged" member of the community was only 23.6 years old. This representative person aged slowly, but steadily, until he was 29.8 years old in 1950. During the next 10 years he grew younger, or 28.3 years old in 1960.

An increase in the number of people 65 years old or older is predicted. These older people are expected to represent 8.8 per cent of the population by 1970. They amounted to 8.5 per cent in 1963.

In 1960 females outnumbered males for the first time, 1,000 women for every 985 men.

Stephenson

Reading Project
The Board of Education of the Stephenson Consolidated Schools has been informed by the Michigan State Department of Education that its project to improve reading skills and language usage has been approved for a federal grant of $23,423.

The project is designed to instruct all pupils in grades 2 to 12 inclusive who have a reading or language problem. A preliminary survey indicates that about 214 pupils could take advantage of the special instruction program.

The program of instruction will get underway just as soon as the staff is organized and materials are received. It is expected that six certificated teachers will have to be hired and about five teacher aides.

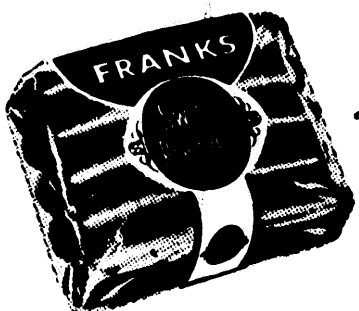

The project is funded 100 per cent under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965.

Plan Speech Class
A speech correction class will be organized for school children. Interested parents should write or telephone the office of the superintendent for complete information.

Typing Class
The business department of the Stephenson High School will organize an adult course in elementary typewriting if enough persons are interested. A fee of $6 per person will be charged for 10 two-hour sessions. A minimum of 12 persons is required to enroll. Interested persons should contact the office of the superintendent.

Bank Robbery Was Top Crime Story Of Year

The annual report of the Escanaba Police Department, usually devoid of statistics in the major crimes category, tops its list in 1965 with one bank robbery — certainly the first in many years and possibly the only one in the community's history.

At 11 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 2, Mrs. William J. Besaw, 31, held up the teller at the First National Bank and ran out with $3,200. She jumped into a car driven by her husband, also 31, and they escaped after being pursued closely by William Servant, the bank's assistant vice president in his auto.

The Besaws abandoned their car on Escanaba's south side. Two hours later he was arrested while walking in the 900 block, Sheridan Road. He had $980 hidden in his socks.

Police caught up with Mrs. Besaw four hours after the robbery. She was drinking in a bar a few blocks from the police station. She had spent some of the money but still had $2,037 on her person.

Now In Prison
Recently in U.S. Court at Grand Rapids she was sentenced to serve 7½ years and she 5 years in prison for bank robbery.

Authorities agreed the robbery was lumbing and amateurish — but however novice, the Besaws (originally of the West Coast) made crime headlines in Escanaba for the year.

Police Chief Harold Finman noted that the 1965 police department report lists no murders, aggravated assaults or rape in the community for the year.

There were a number of larcenies, however, totaling 41 (compared to 76 the year before) under the value of $50; and 12 over the value of $50.

More Juveniles
Juveniles were busy in the area of larcenies and auto thefts, the report shows. The number of auto thefts increased from 16 to 24 last year, and of the 24 autos driven away 11 were the work of juveniles. The number of juveniles involved in larcenies also increased over the previous year.

Of 1,220 reported offenses, police investigations resulted in the arrest of 554 adults and 124 juveniles in 1965.

Of the 554 adults charged, 513 were found guilty and 39 were released, the report shows. Of the 124 juveniles arrested, 93 were released and 29 were charged.

The number of offenses against the law declined in 1965 compared to the year before: Sex offenses down from 7 to 6; liquor law violations down from 21 to 14; drunkenness down from 40 to 24; driving drunk down from 9 to 7; and malicious mischief down from 73 to 63.

Traffic Kills Two

In the area of traffic law enforcement the number of moving violations by motorists increased from 657 to 805. Parking violations were up from 13,664 to 20,091; and defective equipment and miscellaneous violation increasing the totals from 14,511 to 21,097.

Vigorous enforcement of the traffic laws did not halt the usual toll of traffic accidents with the attendant injuries and deaths. The traffic deaths totaled two for the year, the same as the year before. The number of injuries increased from 114 to 163 and the number of accidents from 525 to 620.

The record of enforcement revealed by statistics show that motorists were more careless in 1965. Traffic violations for speeding jumped from 216 to 301, for disobeying traffic signals from 56 to 61, following too closely from 67 to 72, improper passing from 9 to 22, leaving the scene of accidents from 2 to 10, and failing to yield the right of way from 55 to 73.

Geologists To Meet May 6 At Sudbury, Ontario

HOUGHTON—The Sault Ste. Marie Branch of Michigan Tech and the Institute on Lake Superior Geology will host an informal meeting on the Sault campus May 6 and 7 for geologists and mineralogists concerned with the geology of the Lake Superior region.

Scientists from the Society of Economic Geology and the Mineralogical Society of America, as well as from the Institute, will take field trips to the Manitowishewic zinc district of northeastern Lake Superior, the famous Sudbury, Ontario, nickel mining camp, and the Blind River-Elliott Lake uranium district in Ontario.

This is the 12th annual meeting of these scientists and the third at Michigan Tech with attendance of over 350 predicted.

Straits Bridge Bill Sent In For Overhaul

LANSING (UPI)—The bill to lower tolls on the Mackinac Bridge through a state-backed refinancing plan was sent to the state Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday for an overhaul.

The move, taken after Democrats caucused on the controversial proposals, appears to enhance the changes for some type of legislative action on the Mackinac Bridge this session.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Drendzel, D-Detroit, predicted the bill will be reported out of committee and back onto the Senate floor within two months, after a complete study of various proposals.

Saved From Shelf
The measure was sent to the Democratic-controlled Appropriations Committee from the Senate floor Wednesday following lively debate on the question of referring the bill to the Senate Highway Committee, where it would have probably languished.

The Highway Committee recently moved the bill onto the Senate floor, but only to stifle critics that it was attempting to "bottle up" the proposals. The measure passed the House by a 103-0 vote last session but only reported onto the Senate floor this week.

State Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee said his committee wants a chance to sift through all of the financial ramifications of refinancing the bridge bonds.

Lower Tolls Sighted
The bill would refinance $99.8 million in bonds currently outstanding on the bridge with the intent of obtaining a lower interest rate and thus lower tolls. Bridge tolls, now $3.75 per one-way auto trip, might eventually be lowered to $1.50 through refinancing.

Current interest rate on the bonds is about 4.25 per cent. According to the proposed bill new bonds would be sold at an average interest rate of 3.25 per cent over a 35-year period and backed by full faith and credit of the state.

Once the new bonds are issued the Mackinac Bridge Authority, which now controls the $100 million span, would be abolished and jurisdiction moved to the Highway Department.

Rev. Patrow Is Better Hearing Society Speaker
"Ethiopia is the oldest continually independent country in the world," said Rev. Roger Patrow of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, speaking to the Better Hearing and Speech Society at the Chamber of Commerce Building Wednesday night.

The speaker, in recent years a missionary to Ethiopia, touched on the ancient and modern history of this African country, reaching far back to the legend of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba in 1,000 B.C., describing the acceptance of Christianity in the year 330 A.D., its fall into disfavor, and its re-establishment in the 17th Century.

"Ethiopia is referred to as a Christian island in a sea of Muslims," said Rev. Patrow, and has 8 million Christians in a population of 22 million, making it the third largest populated country in Africa. Although its climate is perfect, flowering and green the year round, the soil rich, and water plentiful, farming methods are ancient, and the speaker described the inaccessibility and the great transportation difficulties as the cause for Ethiopia's slow industrial and agricultural progress.

"Religious missions are ecumenical in spirit," Rev. Patrow reported, "including several religious faiths from numerous countries. Mission work involves religion, education, health, and in assisting these poor but noble people to a better life."

Slide pictures illustrated Rev. Patrow's narration, and he brought many of his subjects to life by telling stories about each.

The Board of Directors re-elected as President Mrs. Rene Labre; Secretary, Mrs. Carlton Mineau; and Treasurer, Mrs. Charles O'Neill. Newly elected vice president is Brother Felix. Announcement was made that lipreading classes are being held every Wednesday night, 7:30 p.m., at 801 Lake Shore Drive. Interested persons may call Mrs. Labre at 786-4027.

Habitat Experts Rap Buck Law

LANSING—State lawmakers this week were urged by the Michigan Association of Conservation Ecologists not to let the current wave of deer hunter emotionalism over last season's stampede them in passing "ill-advised" legislation banning antlerless deer hunting.

The private organization, made up of about 270 professional people involved in natural resource management and education, indicated to legislators that a retreat from taking surplus antlerless deer would result in destruction of the animals' range, a waste of whitetails by starvation, and a much reduced deer kill in the long run.

MACE, in letters sent to legislators, said a moratorium on antlerless deer shooting "is not a sound solution—for next year, the following year, or any year." It stressed that such a ban, now being clamored for by some hunters, would be "short sighted" and probably "ineffective."

The group of resource experts described the Conservation Department's deer program as biologically sound and pointed out that before antlerless hunting was introduced, the ratio of hunter success was considerably lower than it was even last season when one of six hunters scored.

MACE said "bucks only" hunting led to a severe annual waste of animals which could not survive winters because of food shortages. MACE noted that both hunters and the deer herd have benefited under the Department's management. Hunters have enjoyed a

Senior Citizens Get Tax Break

LANSING (UPI) — John B. Martin, chairman of the Michigan Commission on Aging, today urged home owners over 65 years of age to apply for homestead tax exemptions.

Senior citizens who have resided in Michigan for seven years and who have annual incomes of less than $5,000, are eligible for exemption on the first $2,500 of state equalized value of their homes, Martin said.

He advised all senior citizens meeting the requirements to contact their city or village assessor or township supervisor to obtain a homestead tax exemption affidavit. Proof of age and property ownership is required.

"In order to bring about a proper balance between our deer and their range, we should reduce our basic herd even more in some places—at least until we can increase the annual carrying capacity of the range," MACE advised.

Users Of Kick Drugs Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said the number of middle-class youths seeking kicks through marijuana, hallucination drugs and other narcotics was "growing to frightening proportions."

Reports from police, social workers and educators show the problem is becoming increasingly widespread, particularly on college campuses, Dodd said.

"These aren't poverty-level kids," Dodd told UPI in an interview. "They're from white-collar families. And we're just going to have to do something about it."

Dodd is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee's narcotics subcommittee. It is holding hearings today with testimony from New York Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

The panel is considering administration proposals to revolutionize federal handling of drug addicts. They would permit most federal violators to be committed to institutions for medical and psychiatric treatment instead of facing long jail terms.

Another section of the proposals would permit addicts under 26 who violate federal narcotics laws to be handled as youthful violators. Federal laws now provide stiff jail sentences for such addicts 18 or over.

Dodd said subcommittee hearings would last four to five weeks, dealing with all aspects of the illegal drug situation.

Sledding Party
Rapid River's Congregational Sunday School will have its annual winter sledding party, Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Whitefish Pipe Line Hill.

GIVING IT A TRY—The impact of U.S. ways on Viet Nam reaches far. Hamburger stands and pizza palaces blossom in Saigon, and here a six-year-old boy tries out an American cigarette, evidently finding it to his liking.

Girls Win Fight To Get Into Bar

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The women have won another battle.

Hamel's Stag Bar, one of the last old time saloons where women didn't dare step on the welcome mat, has closed its doors after 64 years of operation.

Jim Hamel, who inherited the "for men only" bar from his father Ike in 1950, closed the bar and is searching for a new location, this time for both male and female patrons.

"Half of your customers today are women," Hamel said. "The stag bar has seen its day."

Why didn't he open his stag bar to women instead of closing altogether?

"There wasn't enough space for the additional rest room facilities required," he replied.

RELIGIOUS MEMBERSHIP, climbing at a faster rate than the nation's population, has reached highest point in history, according to figures compiled by the National Council of Churches for the 1966 Yearbook of American Churches. The current total is up about 2% from the previous year. Protestants make up more than half the total, but Roman Catholics are still the largest single denomination. Largest group in the "others" category is Buddhist, which jumped from 60,000 to 110,000 in a year largely because of inclusion of figures for Hawaii for the first time. Flaw in the otherwise rosy religious picture is attendance, down to 45% of membership on an average Sunday from 46% the year before.

Largest Protestant Denominations

Denomination	Membership
SOUTHERN BAPTIST	18,998,000
METHODIST	10,304,184
NATIONAL BAPTIST CONVENTION U.S.A. (NEGRO)	5,500,000
EPISCOPAL	3,341,000
UNITED PRESBYTERIAN	3,292,000
LUTHERAN CHURCH	3,131,000
NATIONAL BAPTIST CONVENTION OF AMERICA	2,449,000
LUTHERAN CHURCH MISSOURI SYNOD	2,451,000
AMERICAN LUTHERAN	2,587,204
CHURCHES OF CHRIST	2,250,000

THE SOUTHERN Baptist Convention retains its rank as the largest Protestant denomination, according to latest National Council of Churches' statistics. But the Methodists are in line to take over first spot if merger under discussion with a smaller denomination goes through.

Ontario Forces Woods Renewal

TORONTO—For some time, efforts have been made to assure adequate regeneration to replace actual timber cut in the areas of Northern Ontario which are held under licenses by a number of large wood products processors. In furtherance of this objective, changes were made to the Crown Timber Act a few years ago.

For more than a year now, conferences have been proceeding between officials of the department and companies concerned to assure, through an annual regeneration plan, the forest regeneration by a continuing process in the areas being cut over. All the major licensees have now been requested to enter into these agreements.

"I am pleased to say that the first agreement in the present programme has just been executed by the officials of the company which first indicated its approval and readiness to sign," Lands and Forest Minister A. Kelso Roberts, has announced. "I joined with M. D. Ceeley, vice president in charge of woodlands, of the Great Lakes Paper Co. of Fort William, in the signing ceremony making effective one of these agreements.

"The annual cut of this company under its expanded operations for newsprint, sulphite and kraft pulps is expected to amount to 50,000 acres annually. Under the agreement, provision will be made in the year following the cut for the requisite regeneration. The equipment and personnel necessary to carry it out will be provided by the company at actual cost, which in the first instance will be borne by the crown.

"Over the years, there have been many excellent examples of co-operation between licensees and the department in the interest of regeneration work. For example, two agreements were made effective a year or so ago between the Kimberly Clark Co. Ltd., at Longlac and the Spruce Falls Power & Paper Co. Ltd., at Kapuskasing which broke new ground in this field.

"The anticipated series of regeneration agreements, commencing with the one just signed, should assure to a very extensive degree the realization of our goals of regeneration.

"This is a very large problem, part of which is due to neglect of past generations and part to the rapid expansion of the forest industry in the last 20 years or so. Our experts estimate, to keep pace with 1966 cutting operations, at least 360,000 acres must be re-established by one or other of the existing methods of regeneration. These include (beyond the natural means of reforestation which accounts for a goodly percentage of the whole cutover) the following methods: scarification of areas of which there is an existing seed source, scarification in preparation for seeding or planting, seeding and planting."

Brrrrr... Frigid Feet Wait

IN 10 BELOW ZERO cold, children from the Franklin School area today stood along the curb waiting for their bus to arrive. The two buses loading are for other children. The necessity for children to wait without shelter for buses to take them to school in another part of the city would be eliminated under the bond issue for school buildings proposed by the Escanaba Area Board of Education. New schools would be built at Franklin, Washington and southside sites and additions constructed at Lemmer, Soo Hill and Wells Schools. Bundled up against the cold this morning were, from left, Mrs. Gerald Grenfell and her daughter, Mary Ellen, Wendy Miller and Mary Ann Van Horn. Behind them, two young boys seek a little warmth from the dangerous carbon-monoxide exhaust of a bus. (Daily Press Photo)

Sub-Zero Cold Continues Grip

Temperatures tumbled in the Escanaba area to a low of 12 below zero last night, a record for the winter so far, and part of a cold-blast that is expected to grip the entire state into the coming weekend.

The Weather Bureau reported the official low as -12 last night, there was a slight warm-up to about 5 below early in the morning followed by a drop to 11 below at 10 a.m. today.

High winds from the northwest whiped a light snow into drifts and intensified the frigid feeling.

Cars stalled, schools were closed in the Houghton-Hancock district but continued to operate locally. The roads were open throughout Delta County and in generally good condition, reported William J. Karas, Road Commission superintendent engineer.

More Cold Coming

In the city of Escanaba the central steam heating plant, a municipal utility, was hard put to meet the peak demand that occurred about 8 a.m. today said City Manager George Harvey. Stores and shops and other customers started turning up their thermostats at that hour and for a period of one hour there was a less than 100 per cent response from the plant.

There was no interruption of North Central Airlines service at Escanaba airport, where a -11 was recorded at 8 a.m. and it was still -10 later in the morning.

The Weather Bureau predicts a low of about 10 below tonight. The high Friday will be about 5 below and it will be continued fair and cold on Saturday.

"Nasty" Storm

The storm swept down from the north, covering the entire

Upper Peninsula. It pushed southeast, its vanguard dropping light snow in Detroit in what the Weather Bureau said was Michigan's "nastiest storm this winter."

The Michigan Highway Department said snow was drifting up to 12 inches deep between Petoskey and Muskegon.

The Weather Bureau said winds were gusting up to 35 miles per hour at Sault Ste. Marie, 29 mph at Traverse City and 33 mph at Marquette.

The Weather Bureau said the snowfall measured only about three inches but the strong winds, hitting blizzard strength in gusts, intensified the storm.

U.S. Senate Criticized For Wasting Time

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate was chided today for wasting time on "right to work" repeal legislation while solutions to labor problems such as New York's crippling transit strike are allowed to languish in committee.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., complained about the situation in a prepared speech. He said, "Congress is made to look ridiculous" when such a bill gets attention and more important labor-management problems "go unnoticed."

The "right to work" repealer, a top-priority measure for organized labor, is now mired in a filibuster aimed at blocking its consideration by the Senate.

President Johnson has given his backing to the proposal, which would remove section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. The section gives states authority to ban labor contracts providing for compulsory union membership. Nineteen states have done so.

The House passed the bill last year, but Senate opponents under the leadership of GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen blocked it. Dirksen is leading the anti-repeal forces again this year.

Willis, one of the opponents, said that "Recently the life of New York City was disrupted for 12 days by an illegal strike of subway and bus workers, called in defiance of a court order."

"Today we are threatened by a railroad strike in March which could effect the health and welfare of an entire nation... and yet, we sit here giving full priority to a comparatively insignificant section of the Taft-Hartley law," Robertson said.

Wood Buying Methods Scored

A Menominee County pulpwood producer who asked that his name not be revealed today suggested that current discussion of the Upper Peninsula's woods labor shortage has not stressed one of its major causes.

That cause, he said, is the paper mills' wood procurement policies. He sells most of his wood to Wisconsin paper mills. "The poverty program has been blamed for the labor shortage for training woods workers in new skills and sending them out of the area to work, and the military has been blamed for drafting young woods workers, but they haven't put the blame in the right place," said the logger.

"The mills have caused the problem, not only because of lower prices for wood, but because they bought on a weekly or monthly basis, with no contracts. I have $30,000 worth of equipment and I work from day to day as a logger."

"Sometimes I think that the mills think that the loggers are still lumberjacks and not family men with cars and kids to support. There aren't any lumberjacks any more."

Quit Logging

(The speaker has four children; two wed, two in school. A son has been helping him log on state and federal forest lands and on industrial lands. Most of his production has been pulpwood.)

"I quit this winter," he said. "I had to quit. I had to quit because of the new workmen's compensation law. They say that you can't be without it, although there are only two of us. With my last year's wages I would have to pay $4,000 in insurance this year. A man would have to be stupid to pay it. I think a man would have to take money out of his pocket to pay it; he couldn't earn that much."

"I pay $19.17 for workmen's compensation, $4.60 for unemployment compensation, and $4.20 for social security on every $100 of payroll. That's 28.5 per cent of payroll. I paid it less than a year and then quit logging. Others quit before I did. I heard that a Powers logger paid $45,000 in insurance in a period in which he had $1,500 in claims."

Woods Wages

"I read of fear that the loggers have been lost for good and that they won't go back into the woods, even if the wages are raised. That's not true. The men would go back for less than they can earn in the city, but they can't go back for the wages offered now."

"The Wisconsin mills are paying the railroads up to $5 a cord for moving wood and they allow a trucker only $1.50 for the same job. I paid $20,000 for a truck and last year my license for two trucks and a pickup—which only cost $19 for license—cost $1,100."

"Wood bought from moonlighters has depressed the price of wood and hurt the regular loggers. We've got to be strong to work in the woods and so we've got to use strong language."

The logger said that woods workers earn as much as $25 a day, "but he may have to buy two chain saws in a year to do it, and he can't work all year."

PCA Plans 3 U.P. Meetings

Haines To Leave Hospital Post

John Haines, associate administrator at St. Francis Hospital for the past three years, has resigned effective Feb. 20 to accept a position with the new Unity Hospital at Fridley, Minn. No successor to the St. Francis post has been named.

Haines will serve for a year as associate administrator at Unity Hospital, then move up to the administrator's job. Unity Hospital is a 150 bed facility.

Haines said today that plans call for expansion to 300 beds within 10 years. Fridley is an expanding suburb on the northeast side of Minneapolis.

A native of Eau Claire, Wis., Haines came to Escanaba, Feb. 18, 1963, from Alexian Brothers Hospital, St. Louis, Mo. Prior to joining Alexian Brothers Hospital, he had served two years residency at Luther Hospital, Eau Claire.

He is a graduate of Loras College, Dubuque, Ia., and received his master's degree in 1959 from the University of Iowa. From 1951 to 1953, he served as a medical corpsman with the U.S. Army in Korea.

Since coming to Escanaba, Haines has worked actively to improve facilities and services at the hospital and has cooperated with Bay de Noc Community College in a practical nurses' training program.

He also initiated a detailed "report to the public" on the hospital's plans and activities through the Escanaba Daily Press.

Haines is currently president of the Upper Peninsula Hospital Council.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS are a GROWTH BUSINESS

Newspapers go and grow where people go

America is people on the move. Nearly 30 million new housing units have been built since the end of World War Two. One out of every five Americans changes his residence every year. Every third day another town or village makes the transition from "rural" to "urban" status.

As America moves and grows so, too, do its newspapers go and grow—performing their daily mission of providing the information that people need where the people are.

To serve the needs of people, newspapers spring up or spread out to adapt to the changing face of America. Today there are more daily newspapers published in the United States than at the end of World War Two. There are more small ones and more large ones. For example, there are 20 more newspapers in the "over 100,000" circulation class today than in 1945 and six more in the "over 500,000" class. What's truly significant, however, is that today daily newspapers have greater circulation, contain more news and more advertising, and employ far more people than ever before.

Newspapers are growing for one reason: Only the newspaper covers the news fully and in depth. There is no substitute for the newspaper.

For more information on why daily newspapers are a growth business, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "The Growth of the American Daily Newspaper," an economic analysis published by the University of Wisconsin.

Already up saltwater creek with seaweeds in his propeller, Coach Bill Wood of Gladstone had a new problem to haunt him this week . . . Bombed 81-40 by Ishpeming last weekend when starting guard Lynn LaPlant was sidelined with a knee injury, the Braves have now lost the services of forward Russ Sargent with a glandular infection . . . The top rebounder on the club, Sargent may not be well enough to play against Norway Friday night and LaPlant will probably see only limited action, if any . . . Illness and injuries have plagued the Braves all season.

Palmer Favored Over Golf Field In Lucky Event

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It was Arnold Palmer against the pack today as a field of 144 pros and amateurs teed off in quest of the Lucky International golf title and the $7,500 that goes with it. The long-hitter from Latrobe, Pa., warmed up for the 72-hole medal play test at Harding Park's par 71, 6,692-yard layout, with a blistering 65 Wednesday, in a pro-amateur tuneup.

The ease with which he conquered the tree-studded course and the fact he already has earned $19,925 in only two starts this year, made Palmer a heavy favorite in this $50,000 event.

He won the Los Angeles Open going away and almost won the Bing Crosby last week, closing with a typical birdie charge that brought him to within one stroke of the eventual winner, Don Massengale of Jackboro, Tex.

Massengale is entered here as one of the other top touring pro golfers, including Billy Casper Jr., this year's San Diego Open winner; Tony Lemma, Doug Sanders, PGA champion Dave Marr, and the defending Lucky champion, long George Archer of Gilroy, Calif.

The only two big names not playing here are Jack Nicklaus, golf's leading money-winner the last two years, and Gary Player, the South African star who as yet has not joined the winter tour.

Ludick Stopped

CAPTOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Mike Pusateri of Brockton, Mass., foiled Willie Ludick's bid for a world welterweight title shot when he scored a second-round technical knockout over the South African Wednesday night.

Pusateri took command from the opening bell and the referee stopped the bout after 10 seconds of the second round. Ludick is the No. 3 welterweight challenger to champion Emile Griffith.

The Lions said the parting was "an amicable one."

Packer Aide New Coach For Falcons

ATLANTA, Ga. — (AP) — Norb Hecker, defensive backfield coach for the Green Bay Packers, was named head coach Wednesday of the Atlanta Falcons, who will make their National Football League debut this fall.

Hecker, 38, was named by Falcon owner Rankin Smith, who said the Green Bay assistant would serve only as head coach and not as general manager.

Hecker was given a four year contract, Smith said. Terms were not announced.

The new Falcon coach has been with the Packers since 1959, and helped coach Green Bay to NFL championships in 1961, 1962 and 1965.

Hecker started his coaching career as a player-coach with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Canadian Football League in 1958, after playing six seasons in the NFL. A halfback, he started with the Los Angeles Rams in 1952 and finished his playing career with the Washington Redskins in 1957.

He played his college football at Baldwin-Wallace college in Berea, Ohio, where he also competed in basketball, baseball and track.

Hecker was named to the Atlanta job in preference to more widely known candidates including former NFL Head Coaches Red Hickey, George Wilson and Buddy Parker.

Smith also tried to get Hecker's boss at Green Bay, Vince Lombardi.

Atlanta was highly successful in landing its draft choices of college players without a coach, and lost only one to the rival American Football League.

One of Hecker's first duties will be to select players from other NFL clubs at a league meeting next month, when the Falcons will be allowed to pick 42 experienced men from the 14 established teams.

"Of all the people I talked with—and there were a lot of them—Norb Hecker impressed me the most," Smith said. "I know Vince Lombardi thinks a lot of him."

Smith said he had to choose between experience and youth. "I decided I didn't want a read," he said. "I know Norb is a young fellow with a big challenge, but he realizes this and he is ready to go."

Hecker came to Atlanta last weekend. At the news conference, he said, "I am really excited over the opportunity to be on the ground floor with the Falcons."

"I think we have a good start with the fine rookies the Falcons have drafted and signed. I'm ready to go to work."

Peggy Has Eye On Third Title

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Peggy Fleming, a 17-year-old veteran from Colorado Springs, Colo., goes after her third straight national senior figure skating title today when she opens competition in the school figures at Berkeley Ice Land.

Her closest rival appears to be Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., who placed third last year for the national crown.

Atoy Wilson of Los Angeles and Carol Newberry of Colorado Springs, who took the lead in the novice men's and ladies' division school figures Wednesday, will seek to wrap up the championships tonight in the free skating. Compulsory figures count 60 per cent in the scoring while free skating accounts for the remaining 40 per cent.

Wilson, 14, picked up three first place votes out of a possible five and a total of only nine originals in winning the school figures. Miss Newberry had a tough time staying ahead of Dawn Glab and Sharon Davis-on, both of Paramount, Calif., in the novice ladies' division. Miss Newberry, 13, earned one first place point and only pair of second place points were enough to keep her ahead.

He'd like to become the next middleweight champ, but there's one hitch. Dick Tiger, the present title-holder, lost a 10-round decision to him in October of 1964 and hasn't given Archer so much as the time of day since.

Archer, the world's second-ranked middleweight, is a likable, ambitious young fellow who can box your ears off but would have trouble knocking out your sisters-in-law.

He'd like to become the next middleweight champ, but there's one hitch. Dick Tiger, the present title-holder, lost a 10-round decision to him in October of 1964 and hasn't given Archer so much as the time of day since.

Archer could have placed the ad in the Times for $62.50, provided he was willing to have it appear on any page the newspaper designated. But he didn't want to stunt on this one. He insisted the ad be placed on page two, and it was.

The total cost: $87.50. Unfortunately for Archer, the ad was somewhat wasted on Tiger, who didn't even see it and knew nothing about it until it was called to his attention while he was training at the new Garden Gym during mid-day.

"He says he beat me," said Tiger of Archer, "but the people who were at that fight knew I won. The decision was highly unpopular one. He was on the floor on one knee but the referee didn't count it as a knockdown. Archer knew it was a knockdown, however."

"Besides," continued the Nigerian-born champion, "he (Archer) was just beaten by Don Fullmer. I'm the champion and I'm not afraid of anyone. I go by the ratings. I want to fight someone on top, not below."

According to the latest ratings issues by the Ring Magazine, Archer is ranked second only to Nino Benvenuti of Italy. Peter Muller, whom Tiger is scheduled to meet next in Germany on Feb. 18, isn't ranked at all.

Tiger didn't really explain why he's willing to meet the unranked Muller before Archer other than to say "they tell me he's a tough guy."

Approach Ineffective

Nor did the champ have a great deal of comment on Archer's novel manner of asking him for a return bout.

"That's up to him," said Tiger about the $87.50 ad. "I wish him luck," he added. "What kind of luck?"

Wisconsin Next For Wolverines

ANN ARBOR—Led by Cazzie Russell's 30-points-a-game shooting, Michigan's defending Big Ten basketball champions with four straight league victories behind them will face Wisconsin's 1-2 Badgers at Madison Saturday. They will make their next home appearance Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Last Saturday the Wolverines ran their league mark to 4-0 and their season record to 10-4 by downing Minnesota at Yost Field House, 97-85. Besides the Badgers, whom they face later again in the season here, the Illini, whom they meet only once, Michigan also meets Indiana again, Purdue and Iowa twice, Northwestern once more and Michigan State. The game with the Spartans, now in second place, is scheduled for East Lansing, March 7. Despite a lame back, Russell scored 40 points, only three points off John Tidwell's Yost Field House record set in 1961, and five points off his own individual game high of 45 set against San Francisco in the Chicago Stadium in December.

His 30-point average is based on 420 points in 14 games. Three other Wolverines are now in double figures as well. John Clawson at forward now has a 14.9 point average; Jim Myers at center has 11.9 and Forward Oliver Darden is hitting at 11.8. Myers got 21 rebounds against Minnesota last Saturday.

Joey Archer Wastes Money On Ad Trying To Get Fight With Champ

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—That was a nice try by Joey Archer but all it will net him is a bill for $87.50.

Archer, the world's second-ranked middleweight, is a likable, ambitious young fellow who can box your ears off but would have trouble knocking out your sisters-in-law.

He'd like to become the next middleweight champ, but there's one hitch. Dick Tiger, the present title-holder, lost a 10-round decision to him in October of 1964 and hasn't given Archer so much as the time of day since.

Archer could have placed the ad in the Times for $62.50, provided he was willing to have it appear on any page the newspaper designated. But he

Salukis Keep Tight Hold On Top Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern Illinois has evolved a simple formula for maintaining its lofty rating as the No. 1 small college basketball team in the nation—dispose of the contenders one at a time.

The Salukis' success in following the formula since taking over the top spot one month ago has been responsible for their current status and the schedule maker has seen to it that Southern Illinois must maintain the tactic through the remainder of the season.

The first contender to feel the Salukis' bite was Kentucky Wesleyan on Jan. 10 and last week both Evansville, the defending national champion, and Tennessee State were dispatched.

Firm Hold On Lead

As a result, Southern Illinois has taken a firm hold on the No. 1 position with 29 of 35 possible first-place votes and 333 of a possible 350 points in the latest weekly United Press International board of coaches ratings.

The Salukis, who now hold a 60-point lead over runnerup North Dakota, will have the opportunity to prove their strength over the second half of the campaign which they launch tonight against major college Richmond.

Southern Illinois meets third-ranked Oglethorpe, which vaulted from sixth place in the ratings on the strength of a perfect 15-0 record, and 19th-ranked Indiana State as well as Evansville, Tennessee State and Kentucky Wesleyan in return engagements before the regular season ends March 1 at Wichita State.

While Southern Illinois disposes of most other challengers, North Dakota keeps rolling along in second. The Sioux won two games handily last week to swell their record to 16-2 and draw 253 points and one first-place vote.

Central (Ohio) State, the defending NAIA champion, was fourth, followed by Evansville, a 79-65 victim of the Salukis, Akron and Tennessee State in that order. Evansville was third last week and Tennessee State, which suffered an 84-71 defeat at the hands of Southern Illinois, plunged from fourth.

Last Of Top 10

Grumbling slipped a notch to eighth while Valparaiso and Long Island U. clung to ninth and 10th, respectively.

The most meteoric rise was achieved by Cheyney (Pa.) State, winner of its first 17 games and 40 of 41 over a two-year span. Cheyney bounded from 15th to 11th, pushing Abilene Christian, Kentucky Wesleyan and Arkansas State each down one notch to 12th, 13th and 14th.

Seattle Pacific was 15th, followed by Northern Michigan, the nation's highest scoring outfit, in 16th. Next came South Carolina State, St. Joseph's (N.M.), the only newcomer to the top 20, Indiana State and Assumption.

Southern Illinois had compiled a 10-3 record in games played through Saturday, Jan. 22, on which the current ratings are based. The Salukis' three losses were all to major college powers, Iowa, Arizona State and Arizona.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI board. Each week they vote on the top 10 teams with points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th.

Rangers Upset League Leading Red Wing Sextet

By United Press International
A couple of drops of Vic Hadfield's blood, some good old-fashioned sweat and a little bit of luck have temporarily dried the tears of the New York Rangers.

All three ingredients played an important part in breaking three-game National Hockey League losing streak for the Rangers Wednesday night as they skated past the league-leading Detroit Red Wings 4-3.

The sweat was furnished by wing Donnie Marshall, center Jean Ratelle and goalie Ed Giacomin. Marshall scored the game-tying goal midway through the final period and Ratelle's 14th of the season won it for New York at 18:02. Giacomin, recently recalled from the minors, turned in a superb game against the high-scoring Red Wings.

The luck showed itself on two of the Rangers' four goals. Their first tally, which brought them back from a 2-0 deficit, came in the second period and was actually tipped in by Detroit's Alex Delvecchio although Hadfield received credit for it. Marshall's goal was also a fluke. It was a soft shot from about 10 feet to the right of the cage that slipped unbelievably between the legs of Detroit goalie Roger Crozier.

Hadfield's blood was spilled in the final period when Detroit's Bill Gadsby caught the Ranger wing in the head with a high stick. The two men squared off and drew five minute penalties for fighting. Gadsby, however, drew an extra five for high-sticking which resulted in Detroit being a man short during the final two minutes of play.

In the only other game played Wednesday night, Phil Esposito scored two goals to lead the Chicago Black Hawks to a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

Strampe Keeps Up Torrid Pace

By United Press International
The second round of match play in the 25th annual All Star Bowling Tournament began today with Bob Strampe, of Detroit, leading his division by maintaining the torrid pace he set through 42 qualifying games.

The 16 top men and women Wednesday were divided into American and National divisions for match games ending with a championship round Sunday at Joe Joseph's Pro Bowl here.

Strampe, last year's tournament champion, led the American division by averaging 226 per game Wednesday for an 11-4 win-loss series. Dick Weber, St. Louis, the 1964 champion, claimed second place with 3795 (actual pinfall plus bonus), trailing Strampe by 149.

Roy Lown, El Paso, Tex., led the Nationals with a 10-5 record in match play.

Women's qualifying leader Joy Abel, Chicago, took the lead in the women's American division by winning six games and dropping four. Jean Winch, South Bend, Ind., had the same record to lead the Nationals.

Pistons Great NBA Medicine

By United Press International
The best medicine for a National Basketball Association losing streak seems to be the Detroit Pistons.

The New York Knickerbockers got well in a hurry Tuesday night by whipping the Pistons 115-100 to snap a seven-game losing skid and the Los Angeles Lakers broke a four-game winless streak by beating Detroit 126-110 Wednesday night.

The Lakers, who opened up a three-game lead in the Western Division, rolled to a 65-47 halftime advantage on the hot shooting of Elgin Baylor, who netted 19 points before intermission. The Pistons closed the gap to six points in the fourth quarter but the Lakers made eight straight baskets, four by Jerry West, who finished with game-high 35 points.

Tom Gola and Emmett Bryant put on a last period scoring spurt that carried the Knicks to a 115-103 triumph over the San Francisco Warriors in the only other NBA game scheduled. Gola, who scored 20 points, netted nine in the final stanza and Bryant added five to break open the game.

Women's qualifying leader Joy Abel, Chicago, took the lead in the women's American division by winning six games and dropping four. Jean Winch, South Bend, Ind., had the same record to lead the Nationals.

Aquinas Beats Alma By 92-80

ALMA (UPI)—Alma College, which lost the services of 25-point man Jerry Knowlton at the beginning of the second half Wednesday night, dropped a 92-80 decision to visiting Aquinas College.

Knowlton, who had averaged 25 points a game in non-conference competition, was knocked unconscious and was taken to a hospital after a court collision.

Rick Warmbold of Alma took over scoring chores and was the high point man for the game, with 28. Joseph O'Toole and Dennis Alexander each had 22 for Aquinas.

The win gave Aquinas a 6-7 overall record while handing Alma its 10th loss, with only one win to its credit.

Keino Feature Runner Entered In Mile Event

NEW YORK (UPI)—The four minute mile will be Josef Odlozil, the Czech who was runnerup to Peter Sned in the 1964 Olympics. Canadians Frigas Leps and Bill Crothers, and Americans Bob Day, and Keith Forman.

Fordham's Sam Perry and Fresno State's Darel Newman, two of the four sprinters who share the world record for 60 yards at 5.9 seconds, are entered in the dash as is George Anderson, who was clocked in six seconds while winning the NAIA crown last week.

John Thomas in the high jump; Tom Farrell in the 600; Southern University in the mile relay; Belgium's Gaston Roelants in the two mile and Marie Mulder, 16, in the woman's 800, are among the other featured performers.

Kipchoke Keino, the 26-year-old police academy instructor from Kenya who has gained world wide prominence with his distance running, is the featured performer of the meet in his first and only New York appearance for the year.

The world record holder at 3,000 and 5,000 meters, Kipchoke is called, may have to share the spotlight with John Pennel, the pole vaulting kingpin who is in the best shape of his career.

Adult Diploma, Other Classes Enroll 260

The Manistique community school program began this week with 260 adults enrolled in Manistique and Germfask centers. Ninety-three of the adults are enrolled in high school diploma courses, 38 in basic adult education and others in enrichment courses.

Enrollment in the high school diploma and basic education courses was reported "most encouraging" while enrichment course enrollment is not up to expectation. Enrolling will continue through next week, at the community school director's office and at the scheduled classes.

Bishop sewing 1 had the highest enrollment, with 20. Courses which need additional enrollments are bookkeeping 1, physical fitness, welding, small engine repair, social dancing, square dancing and ski instruction.

Adult ski instruction starts Thursday at 4 p. m., at the Youth Center. Additional classes scheduled Thursday are cake decorating, bookkeeping 1, welding, American government, creative writing and basic adult education.

School Planning Makes Progress

A report on school reorganization planning and legislation providing for it was presented by Mrs. Duane L. Waters at a teachers' meeting this week and at the meeting of the Schoolcraft School Board Members Assn. in Hiawatha School.

Mrs. Waters is a member of the Manistique Board of Education and the Intermediate district committee. She stressed that she was speaking as an individual, and was not presenting official statements.

The school reorganization effort has its basis in Public Act 289 of 1964, intended to combine all non-high school districts and to combine some of the existing K-12 districts which would have a K-12 public school minimum enrollment of 2,000 or more. The total number of K-12 districts was to be not less than 500.

Enthusiasm
A state committee was created to establish guidelines and intermediate committees were formed, composed of five members each from the K-12 districts of the area and the districts with less than K-12 programs, five appointed by probate judges, and three appointed by the Intermediate school board from its membership.

The district committee was divided into three sections to study community factors and transportation, enrollment and program, and finance and facilities. As only one committee reported as scheduled, the superintendent was asked to duplicate information which he had in files and send it to members.

The reorganization committee was eager to begin formulating a plan initially but enthusiasm waned when the state committee delayed nearly six months with guidelines. Most meetings were held in Rapid River, though there was one at Nahma. Members began to complain about distances necessary to travel for the meetings and there were several resignations.

When the first fall meeting pointed up much general unrest, it was also decided to hold meetings on a county basis until the final meeting. These seemed more fruitful, with discussions proceeding according to suggestions of the state committee.

Finance
First in importance was quality and breadth of education programs with school districts formed around community centers. Neighborhood schools would be continued and new ones established when school population justifies. Boundaries of districts should make for geographical compactness and efficient bus transportation.

The committee in discussions with state members pinned "reasonable" time to a half hour for elementary students and an hour for high school. The proposed K-12 districts should have potential for an enrollment of 2,000 or more, as those with low pupil-teacher ratio make inefficient use of expensive facilities such as science laboratories, libraries and other equipment, and generally offer less in vocational and technical education.

Financing and taxation were considered from several viewpoints. The necessity of a building program for the Manistique school district was of concern in event that Cooks, Garden and possibly Nahma High School students would be sent to Manistique High School. There was also discussion of availability of space in the Junior High, since the areas of study for K-12 reorganization would want junior high students.

In existing 12 grade districts enlarged by addition of non-12-grade territory the existing 12-grade school board continues as the board of the enlarged district. When two 12-grade districts merge, a new board will be formed which fairly represents both. The intermediate board will appoint members until an election can be held. Public Act 289 will expire when the state committee makes its final report to the Legislature on or before Sept. 1, 1968.

Births

A daughter weighing 7 pounds 1 ounce was born Jan. 26 in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hase, 519 Manistique Ave. Mrs. Hase is the former Laura Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Price, Gould City are the parents of a daughter weighing 5 pounds 15 ounces born Jan. 25 in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Price is the former Margaret Rushford.

The ancient Greeks used soot from burnt butter as a medication for sore eyes, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Students transported to the Junior High School for benefits of art, physical education, band, home economics, shop and science programs. This would relieve crowding in several of the K-8 districts. It was felt there would have to be a building program in the area of the Junior High School group to afford equal opportunity to all junior high members of the proposed K-12 district.

Indebtedness
The problem of differential millage was discussed at length by the intermediate committee. Public Law 257 was passed by the Legislature to allow the levy of differential school millage within a county but the interpretation of the law by the Department of Public Instruction and the State Tax Commission office does not allow the levy of differential millage. This would result in a tax loss of about $10,000 in the city school levy alone, in tax allocation dollars. However, it was the attorney general's opinion that the operating millage of the receiving district was to be assumed by the annexed districts.

Another area of finance and taxation discussed was the bonded indebtedness of districts. In a K-12 reorganization this bonded indebtedness is retained by taxpayers of the district. After three years they may request a vote be taken for the entire K-12 district to assume their bonded indebtedness. At this time it would seem that assumption of bonded indebtedness and a request for operating millage might compete with each other for the attention of the taxpayer, she noted.

To Voters
The wide variation of salary schedules in the county, as reported by Villean Lehman consultants, for teachers, bus drivers, cooks and other personnel was also discussed. An administrative assistant would probably be needed in the Manistique superintendent's office, due to responsibilities of an enlarged district.

The Intermediate committee voted Dec. 7, 1965 to recommend four K-12 districts to the state committee and reports on the proposal are due back from the state March 1, 1966.

The districts would be Escanaba, Cornwell, Wells, Ford River and Bark River-Harris townships; Gladstone, comprised of Escanaba Township, Rock, Baldwin, Brampton and the districts of the Rapid River school system; Manistique, with all districts in the county except Inwood and Seney, and a fourth district, composed of Cooks, Garden, Nahma and Fairbanks.

If the state rejects the plan, both the committee's plan and an alternate submitted by the state will be presented to voters. The plan receiving the most votes is to be resubmitted to voters for final consideration. No further plan is to be submitted for five years by the state or the intermediate committee.

The intermediate district committee is dissolved on completion of the plan, acceptance by the state and vote of the school district. Individual districts will vote on their own parts of the program, not the total program for Delta-School district.

Voting is to take place not less than 90 days nor more than six months following approval of a plan. A majority vote is required.

The reorganization is effective on the date of the election, if the election is held after April 30 and before Sept. 1. If it is held after Aug. 31, but before May 1, the effective date is July 1 following.

In existing 12 grade districts enlarged by addition of non-12-grade territory the existing 12-grade school board continues as the board of the enlarged district. When two 12-grade districts merge, a new board will be formed which fairly represents both. The intermediate board will appoint members until an election can be held. Public Act 289 will expire when the state committee makes its final report to the Legislature on or before Sept. 1, 1968.

Easier Life For Americans

More Leisure; More Money

EAST LANSING—The family breadwinners of the future will probably have easier jobs, more leisure time and more money to spend.

This somewhat rosy picture of the future was painted by Michigan State University scientists involved in Project '80, a futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential for 1980. But the gaze into the future also included general projections for all of the economy. Here are a few of these glimpses of the future as seen by the MSU scientists:

1. The national economy will likely total about a trillion dollars, in terms of today's prices — enough to provide the population with an income after taxes of $3,000 per capita. And this means that every man, woman and child in the country will have nearly $1,000 more to spend than he or she has now. Since most people will have provided themselves with the basic necessities, additional spending will go for luxury goods and nonessentials.

Less For Food
Of the additional $1,000 in disposable income, only about $100 will be spent on food. Most of this will go for processing and for other marketing services rather than to the farmer. But, of course, the rising population will enlarge the farmer's gross income.

2. People will have more leisure time to spend this money. Most will be on a four-day work week and will also enjoy another week of paid vacation time. More will retire at earlier ages.

3. There will be more women in the labor force, and families will take advantage of an improved technology and more convenience foods. But the working man and woman of the future will expend less energy in their jobs. A higher proportion will be at desk jobs rather than on production lines which will likely reduce the amount of calories needed for each worker to perform these duties.

10 Million Population
4. The total population will be around 245 million by 1980. Michigan should have around 10.2 million.

And there will be striking population shifts off the farm. Looking back to 1960, there were about 441,000 people — making up 5.6 per cent of Michigan's population — that were considered in the "rural farm" category in 1960. This compared with 21 per cent rural nonfarm and 73 per cent urban.

By 1980, only 2 per cent of the state's population is expected to be classified as rural farm. Rural nonfarm will jump to 23 per cent; urban to 75 per cent.

5. Along with shifts in population will come shifts in land usage. About 30 per cent of the land that was in farms in 1959 will be diverted to other uses by 1980. Some of this acreage will be used for urban purposes and for highways. The bulk of the disappearing farm area, however, will shift to the forest and recreation classification.

Fewer Farms
Farm numbers in 1980 will probably drop to 55,000 from 112,000 in 1959. Most of the decline will be in farms grossing less than $10,000. Farms grossing over $20,000 will more than double.

Even so, there will still be a place for the small sized farm and the part-time farmer. By 1980, a third of the commercial farmers will still be grossing under $10,000, and about four out of 10 of all farmers will be in the part-time or part-retirement classification.

These estimates of the status of 1980 Michigan are projections, not predictions. They are based upon analyses, assumptions and judgments. The MSU scientists say, many things, including the reaction of people in rural Michigan to Project '80 itself, could change the projections.

The two-year Project '80 research project has now been completed and is being turned over to Michigan's rural leaders and industries for their consideration and use. They will examine the projections and determine what can be done—and what should be done—to make rural Michigan what they want it to be in the future.
